

most
WANTED» VIEW ALL «

What (Original) Gifts to Buy Your Summer Hostess

edited by Virginia Tupker

The end of the summer is rapidly approaching—and with it, that age-old August question rears its head: How to say thank you to the people who invited you to all those divine weekends away, long trips on the boat, and leisurely dinners over the last three months? Chances are, you hate giving the expected wine and flowers as much as they are sick of receiving it, so may we suggest opting for one of these far-more-interesting gifts—from tokens of appreciation to grand gestures—that will guarantee you receive an invitation next year.

1 of 10

Birch Books Conservation tote and one book per month for three months, $150

birchbooksconservation.org

(Proceeds benefit professional libraries of artists, architects, and authors at historic U.S. sites.)

To see the article on Vogue.com Click Here